Jonny Hughes, WCMC CEO
Thank you for your interest in the role of Programme Officer

We are seeking a Programme Officer. The successful candidate will be able to provide expert advice and capacity support regarding Indigenous and local knowledge, biological and cultural diversity, and the rights of Indigenous Peoples and local communities. We are seeking a highly skilled professional who excels in the realms of policymaking, policy-relevant research, and the management of complex relationships and projects, particularly those focused on global biodiversity and development challenges.

The role demands a humble leader who can adeptly navigate complex projects and partnerships, and set a high standard for the team. Your ability to produce compelling, well-crafted materials for policy audiences will be key. This position offers the opportunity to be part of an innovative team committed to environmental stewardship, human rights-based approaches, and global sustainability. Your contributions will extend beyond shaping policies – they will be a catalyst for positive change and a more sustainable world for all.

In this role, you’ll lead in championing evidence-informed policies and collaborating with skilled teams. You will effectively communicate complex ideas to varied audiences and lead project teams, driving their development and potential. Your primary responsibilities include managing projects, fostering strategic relationships both within and outside the organization, and providing expert advice and capacity support regarding the rights of Indigenous Peoples and local communities, and their Indigenous and local knowledge (ILK) associated to biodiversity, including in the context of the development of ecosystem assessments. You will act as focal point on ILK and work closely with UNESCO and national ILK experts to weave ILK into ecosystem assessments.

Your duties will encompass the innovative design and execution of impactful projects, ensuring high-quality outcomes. You’ll engage in analytical synthesis for crafting audience-specific recommendations and reports. Additionally, you’ll organize and oversee workshops, manage project budgets and timelines efficiently, using internal budget and management systems effectively, and supervise team members, ensuring adherence to quality standards. Representing UNEP-WCMC at external events, working in partnership with UN agencies and key partner organisations, and leading fundraising initiatives are also key aspects of this role.
ABOUT THE TEAM

The UNEP-WCMC Policy team is a dynamic group of experts providing enabling and foundational support to the Centre’s work and impact. For over 40 years, UNEP-WCMC has worked with partners to ensure the world is equipped with trusted science, data and knowledge and the capacity and policy advice to use this for better decision-making.

The Policy team plays a central role in ensuring the work of the Centre is relevant and impactful for international and national policy processes. We support the CBD and other intergovernmental conventions and processes, including identifying opportunities for increased cooperation. We provide authoritative information on biodiversity indicators to decision-makers in international organisations and processes, national governments, business, and other stakeholders. We support decision-makers in assessing biodiversity and ecosystems services and their contributions to society and human well-being.

We also work with partners to promote equitable and ethical approaches to biodiversity policy and governance. We work as one organisation. So, while our projects, partnerships and collaborations form the basis of the Policy team’s focal initiatives, they are delivered across the whole Centre.

UNEP-WCMC Strategy

UNEP-WCMC delivers its strategy through four independent impact areas which are complemented by three cross cutting innovation areas.
The people

We have around 230 amazing people who make up our organisation. We are a really friendly bunch of professionals and do not think a single person has ever left the organisation without saying that it is the people that make the organisation fantastic and how much they will miss them when they leave. We truly do have world class scientists and professionals!

The culture

The WCMC culture is very supportive. There are lots of ups and downs in life, and we want to support our people through the difficult patches, so they can flourish again. We have a free employee assistance line that is available to all employees and their families and offers 6 remote counselling sessions and other advice services.

We have redesigned our kitchen and library to make a fantastic social space where you can have a quiet chat or a loud lunch with your colleagues! We have lots of outdoor space including a wildlife pond, which is a popular area for outdoor meetings and relaxation. We also have tea every Wednesday afternoon, with locally homemade cakes and catch up with everyone and everything that is going on at WCMC.

We are affiliated with Cambridge University, and have rooms in the David Attenborough Building that we can use when we wish. UNEP-WCMC is also a member of the Cambridge Conservation Initiative and we often collaborate with our CCI colleagues in our work.

WCMC attaches great importance to addressing safeguarding and ethical considerations in all activities carried out by its staff, including where partner organisations or individuals are part of the delivery of our work. This includes children and vulnerable adults in the community who may be vulnerable to abuse. WCMC acts with integrity, is transparent and expects applicants to share the same values.

Diversity

We really take our diversity seriously, as we operate globally and need to have the people perspectives within the organisation, to fully understand our clients and partners that we work with. Our aim following the introduction of the points based immigration system was to increase our diversity not only in our range of nationalities, but in all protected characteristics (age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex).

We have people that have worked for us for more than 30 years, and our fantastic internships often attract the best and brightest graduates.
