Jonny Hughes, WCMC CEO

Thank you for your interest in the role of IBAT Programme Officer

We are seeking a Programme Officer to join our growing Nature Economy team, working at the junction between biodiversity and the economy.

The Programme Officer will work on one of the biggest global challenges facing the world today – the biodiversity crisis. This role is at the forefront of the business and biodiversity space, providing practical solutions to the business and finance community. Supported by experts from four of the most influential conservation organisations, you will empower decision-makers from global companies across a variety of sectors to incorporate authoritative biodiversity into their operational processes. You will be the public face of the Integrated Biodiversity Assessment Tool (IBAT), representing the IBAT Alliance to industry and conservation communities alike. Using your passion for nature, skills and knowledge, you will help ensure IBAT remains the world's most authoritative biodiversity data tool and continues to evolve to meet the emerging needs of a rapidly changing disclosure landscape.

ABOUT THE TEAM

Our Nature Economy team energises, enables and empowers leaders across all sectors of the economy to act for nature. We support businesses, governments and financial institutions with the knowledge, tools and capacity they need to measure and account for their impacts and dependencies on natural capital. Our goal is for them to implement actions towards a nature-positive future.

Our growing team of 35 people from a range of disciplines work with our partners to build capacity for positive change for people and the planet. We work to support the reform of policy, legal, planning and accountability frameworks, and help to align financial flows to incentivise nature positive and carbon-neutral outcomes.

Our team plays a central role in high-profile collaborations which are at the leading edge of efforts to deliver a nature-positive economy. This includes: delivering ENCORE, the world's first tool to support the exploration of natural capital-related risk for the finance sector; The Proteus Partnership, our flagship initiative which engages leading members of the private sector; our collaboration in the Science-based Targets Network and Taskforce on Nature-related Financial Disclosures; support to the Kunming-Montreal Global Biodiversity Package; work to align biodiversity measurement approaches for businesses; supporting the shift of financial flows towards sustainable land use through training, technical assistance, engagement and indicators development; input to the UK Treasury Dasgupta Review; support to the development of the UN System of Environmental Economic Accounting; and globally regarded research into the embedded biodiversity impact of trade flows.

Each member of our team has exposure to the work across our six focal initiatives:

Economy Transformations	Proteus Partnership	Nature and Trade
Targets and Metrics	Finance for Nature	Natural Capital Approaches

ABOUT THE ROLE

Job Description

Main Purpose of the job

Fifteen years ago, a ground-breaking alliance between UNEP-WCMC, BirdLife International, Conservation International and the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) launched the Integrated Biodiversity Assessment Tool (IBAT). This tool integrates data from globally authoritative biodiversity datasets – the World Database on Protected Areas, World Database of Key Biodiversity Areas and the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species – into a single portal to support decision-makers from industry, finance and governments. Today, it continues to be an innovative solution for providing biodiversity information to decision-makers while channelling resources into the underlying datasets.

The Programme Officer will be responsible for IBAT's business development, user support, and marketing and communications. Working closely with the IBAT Manager and other Programme Officers, and supported by the IBAT User Sub-committee, you will engage with businesses and financial institutions across a range of sectors to expand IBAT to more organisations. You will support IBAT users and deliver training to ensure organisations can use IBAT to incorporate biodiversity into their decision-making. You will work within a multidisciplinary and cross-organisational team, helping to generate innovative ideas on products and services based on your experience working with IBAT users.

UNEP-WCMC Strategy

UNEP-WCMC delivers its strategy through four independent impact areas which are complemented by three cross cutting innovation areas.

The people

We have around 200 amazing people who make up our organisation. We are a really friendly bunch of professionals and do not think a single person has ever left the organisation without saying that it is the people that make the organisation fantastic and how much they will miss them when they leave. We truly do have world class scientists and professionals!

The culture

The WCMC culture is very supportive. There are lots of ups and downs in life, and we want to support our people through the difficult patches, so they can flourish again. We have a free employee assistance line that is available to all employees and their families and offers 6 remote counselling sessions and other advice services.

We have redesigned our kitchen and library to make a fantastic social space where you can have a quiet chat or a loud lunch with your colleagues! We have lots of outdoor space including a wildlife pond, which is a popular area for outdoor meetings and relaxation. We also have tea every Wednesday afternoon, with locally homemade cakes and catch up with everyone and everything that is going on at WCMC.

We are affiliated with Cambridge University, and have rooms in the David Attenborough Building that we can use when we wish. UNEP-WCMC is also a member of the Cambridge Conservation Initiative and we often collaborate with our CCI colleagues in our work.

WCMC attaches great importance to addressing safeguarding and ethical considerations in all activities carried out by its staff, including where partner organisations or individuals are part of the delivery of our work. This includes children and vulnerable adults in the community who may be vulnerable to abuse. WCMC acts with integrity, is transparent and expects applicants to share the same values.

Diversity

We really take our diversity seriously, as we operate globally and need to have the people perspectives within the organisation, to fully understand our clients and partners that we work with. Our aim following the introduction of the points based immigration system was to increase our diversity not only in our range of nationalities, but in all protected characteristics (age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex).

WCMC has a sponsorship licence and always take the best candidate for the role from a whole range of applicants and offer sponsorship to those that require it. We have people that have worked for us for more than 30 years, and our fantastic internships often attract the best and brightest graduates.
